The first rehearsal of the tenth episode, which represents the celebration of Miss Anthony's eightleth birthday here in 1900, is to be held tonight in the Belasco Theater. There will be 150 men and women in this episode, and a large number of children, ranging from four to eight years of age. The scene will represent the culmination of the surfragist's long career, and is said to be the most impressive feature of the production.

SPITE FENCE HIDES ROBBERS AT BEACH

Vandals Wreck Furniture After Stealing Congressman Vare's Clothes.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 17.—Robbers put a spite fence to a new use in loot-ing the summer villas of Wealthy Philaadelphians in the most exclusive sec-tion of Chelsea. The fence was employ-ed as a shield to hide the intruders from view while they broke into a side window of the home of Congressman William S. Vare.

Examination of other houses in the neighborhood showed that several other handsome properties had been entered, including that of Prof. Lightner Witmer, of the University of Pennsylvania. Until owners of these homes, closed for mer, of the University of Pennsylvania. Until owners of tnese homes, closed for the winter, get to this city and make an inventory, the full extent of the operations of the marauders will not be known.

The spite fence and frame building alongside of the Vare villa were erected by Archibald Lambert, owner of the tract between the Congressman's cottage and the boardwalk. Lambert put them up when he was prevented from erecting a buikhead and building out a street to his property.

This fence was high enough to permit the robbers to operate in the Vare cottage without being detected. They got away with a choice assortment of silk shirts, unierwear and citire belonging to the Congressman and members of his family, and then, apparently disappointed that silverware and like valuables had been removed for the winter, proceeded to wreck what furniture there was in the cottage.

of War Garrison today when he re-ceived a letter from Davidson Brothers, of Sloux City, saying they would raise the first provisional company of the proposed continental army from among their employes.

Secretary of War Garrison said he was greatly gratified over the proposal and that he regarded it as a patriotic one. He believes that if the continental army is authorized business men will be found as a rule to be patriotically disposed toward it. Senator Saulabury of Delaware today made public a letter to C. B. Heming way, 102 Twelfth street northwest, replying to a letter from Hemingway, plying to a letter from Hemingway, which he resented as an attempt to influence his action as a member of the joint committee on fiscal relations of the District and Federal governments. Hemingway wrote to Senator Saulsbury that single taxers throughout the country intended to make the question of single tax for the District of Columbia a national issue and that they would work against any member of Congress who opposed the single tax. Senator Saulsbury, in his reply, said he considered Hemingway's statement "either as an effort to influence my judgment by promises of support or as a threat in case I take a contrary view to that of your own organization."
"I will not be influenced in the slightest degree," Senator Saulsbury's letter continued, "and I believe that any person who occupies a position you indicate, which I believe must b your own, not that of your organization, in my opinion is not a good Amrican."
In view of the attempt to influence him, Senator Saulsbury said he would have the letter published throughout Delaware so that "no one will be so foolish as to write a letter like this to me." which he resented as an attempt to in Alexandria, October 25, The Rev. Dr. J. W. Duffey officiated.

Wilson Will Confer This Even-

mittee appointed by the last Congress may be an announcement of the Administration's plan to raise the money for a national defense program. This question has become, many members of Congress declare, more important than the matter of the form "preparedness" should take. In the last few weeks the President has conferred with prominent Democrats in both the House and Senate, and always the question of revenue has been taken up at length. Many suggestions have been made, including tariff changes and increases in personal taxes, but the President has not indicated directly what he would recommend.

To Discuss System.

It has been announced that the purpose of today's conference was to discuss the feasibility of establishing a system.

To List

It has been announced that the purpose of today's conference was to discuss the feasibility of establishing a system, under which a lump sum would be appropriated for the needs of the Government and then apportioned to different departments as deemed necessary. However, on this committees are Chairman Fitsgerald, of the House Appropriations Committee: Congressman Sheriey, Congressmen Kitchin and Garner, of the Ways and Means Committee, and Congressman Hay, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee. It is possible that at the meeting this evening the President will take occasion to go into the matter of money raising with some detail.

Senator Underwood has discouraged the idea of a Panama canal bond issue as being an unsatisfactory way in which to meet the expenses attendant upon the defense program.

Higher Tariff Not Favored.

Higher Tariff Not Favored. Higher Tariff Not Favered.

He has intimated also that increases in the tariff would not only be a departure from time-honored Democratic principles, but would also fail to accompilsh its purpose at this time. He has said that taxation would do the business. And, as a result of his declarations on this it is believed that personal taxation will be the chief means of raising additional revenue. Modification of the income tax law and the creation of a Federal inheritance tax law appears to be strong probabilities.

"When he is sure that the child will be a burden to itself and the community, there is no reason for him to prolong its life. It is a sad thing, of course, but the problem is one that should be solved wisely."

Miss Jane Addams, head of Hull House, in Chicago, and a woman of international reputation, is one of the severest critics of Dr. Haiselden's course. In an interview, she said:

"This child as well as every other child, should be kept alive as long as possible. It is not for us to decide whether a child should be put to death. If it is a defective, it should be treated as such and be taught al lit can learn. This thing is reprehensible under any circumstances. The law states that only a judge has the power to decide who shall die, and then only in case of crime."

Victim Thought Five Men Had Merely Beaten Him on Face and Head.

NEW TORK, Nov. 17.—James Fitspatrick received a knife wound at 1 a. m. yesterday which punctured his left lung, but knew nothing about it until physicians at the Post-Graduate Hospital told him fifteen hours later.

Fitspatrick was standing in the lobby of the Van Cortlandt Hotel when a man entered, whispered to a beliboy to tell him Fitzpatrick was wanted outside, and walked out. As Fitzpatrick stepped out five men beat him on the face and head. He returned to the hotel, had his facial wounds bandaged, and went to bed. He woke up with a severe pain in his side, and was persuaded to go to the hospital.

Mannger W. G. Woodman, of the Van Cortlandt, told a reporter that the wounded man said to him:

"I knew who got me. I won't tell. I'll handle this affair myself."

Firemen in Sight; tizens Save Firehouse

W YORK, Nov. 17.-There would offre house in Fort Lee, N. J., had to been for citizens, who put out ze that threatened to destroy the ing. Not a fireman answered the alarm.

Protection Company No. 1 is the name of the fire fighting organization whose headquarters were in danger. Several residents of the town, homeward bound shortly after midnight, saw the blaze, and, while one of their number sounded an alarm, the others tore open the door and put out the fire, after it had done about $100 damage. If any member of the "protection company" heard the bell, he remained in bed.

The Safest Investment

Are those that do not fluctuate during dis-nurbed conditions of the money or stock iner-lets. First deed of trust notes (first mori-tagea), well accured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gitt-edge investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or con-perations for their stability, and are exem-trom taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from 1500 upward. Semi for booklet "Concerning Loans and investments."
